

American print

A stack of fabric bolts with various butterfly prints. The top bolt features blue and black butterflies on a white background. The second bolt has blue, red, and white butterflies. The third bolt shows blue and black butterflies. The bottom bolt displays blue, purple, and white butterflies. Other colorful patterns are visible in the background.

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

The image displays three fabric swatches stacked vertically, each featuring a repeating 'American print' pattern. The pattern consists of stylized, white line-art depictions of various plants, including leaves, stems, and small clusters of berries or flowers. The top swatch is a deep blue, the middle one is a vibrant red, and the bottom one is a bright green. A white, rounded rectangular text box is centered over the red swatch, containing the text 'American print' in a black, serif font.

American print

A stack of four fabric items, likely pillows or cushions, each featuring a different color with white polka dots. From top to bottom, the colors are black, red, blue, and white. A white label with black text is placed over the red polka-dot item.

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print

American print